

MUSC*2580 Keyboard Accompaniment II

Fall 2020

Section(s): C01

School of Fine Art and Music

Credit Weight: 0.25

Version 1.00 - June 24, 2020

1 Course Details

1.1 Calendar Description

A continuation of MUSC*2570.

Pre-Requisites: MUSC*2570

1.2 Course Description

Through reading, discussion, masterclasses with expert accompanists, and practice, students will experience the joys and challenges of accompanying soloists and ensembles. Rehearsals and recordings build upon the students' accumulated knowledge of solo piano techniques, while study of the accompanying repertoire develops further musicianship, and an awareness of its specific demands. One aim of the course is to begin preparation for students' future employment as professional accompanists.

1.3 Timetable

Each student meets with the Instructor for 1.5 hours/week, alternating between coaching (pianist and instructor only) and rehearsal (pianist, instructor, and solo instrument or ensemble). The meetings times are based on the availability of the students and the instructor. Please see WebAdvisor for the latest information.

1.4 Final Exam

The Final Exam consists of a recording made by the student of repertoire studied throughout the semester. Please see WebAdvisor for the latest information.

3 Learning Resources

Repertoire for this course is chosen jointly by the student and conductor with consideration of available soloists and ensembles.

3.1 Required Resources

Various readings (Readings)

Readings will be supplied by the professor for students to borrow but must be returned in a timely manner.

Musical scores (Other)

Students will require musical scores. Most can be downloaded for free; however, students may be required to purchase some scores (to a maximum of $20.)

4 Learning Outcomes

4.1 Course Learning Outcomes

By the end of this course, you should be able to:

1. Draw connections between the historical development of styles and genres of music and the specific nuances appropriate to various repertoire.
 2. Develop increasingly advanced musical literacy and understanding of musical forms.
 3. Establish effective partnerships with other performing artists, whether in live or remote situations.
 4. Apply advanced pianistic skills to the accompaniment of solo instruments or vocalists and vocal ensembles.
 5. Prepare accompaniment track recordings for virtual ensembles.

7 Course Statements

7.1 Course Delivery in Fall 2020: Considerations based on the pandemic

Keyboard accompaniment is most effectively taught and learned in person. Therefore, for any student able and willing, the professor will provide on campus coaching at appropriate physical distancing, unless public health and university policy prevent it. Any student unable to attend campus will be welcome to pursue all aspects of the course online, using Skype or Facetime for coachings.

Repertoire for this course is chosen jointly by the student and conductor with consideration of available soloists and ensembles. The students in this course will meet weekly with the instructor, alternating between a coaching with only the professor and student, and a rehearsal, including professor, student and soloist or ensemble. One or more recordings each semester will provide opportunities for the students to demonstrate their abilities.

8 University Statements

8.1 Email Communication

As per university regulations, all students are required to check their e-mail account regularly: e-mail is the official route of communication between the University and its students.

8.2 When You Cannot Meet a Course Requirement

When you find yourself unable to meet an in-course requirement because of illness or compassionate reasons please advise the course instructor (or designated person, such as a teaching assistant) in writing, with your name, id#, and e-mail contact. The grounds for Academic Consideration are detailed in the Undergraduate and Graduate Calendars.

8.4 Copies of Out-of-class Assignments

Keep paper and/or other reliable back-up copies of all out-of-class assignments: you may be asked to resubmit work at any time.

8.5 Accessibility

The University promotes the full participation of students who experience disabilities in their academic programs. To that end, the provision of academic accommodation is a shared responsibility between the University and the student.

When accommodations are needed, the student is required to first register with Student Accessibility Services (SAS). Documentation to substantiate the existence of a disability is required; however, interim accommodations may be possible while that process is underway.

Accommodations are available for both permanent and temporary disabilities. It should be noted that common illnesses such as a cold or the flu do not constitute a disability.

Use of the SAS Exam Centre requires students to book their exams at least 7 days in advance and not later than the 40th Class Day.

For Guelph students, information can be found on the SAS website

For Ridgetown students, information can be found on the Ridgetown SAS website

8.6 Academic Integrity

The University of Guelph is committed to upholding the highest standards of academic integrity, and it is the responsibility of all members of the University community—faculty, staff, and students—to be aware of what constitutes academic misconduct and to do as much as possible to prevent academic offences from occurring. University of Guelph students have the responsibility of abiding by the University's policy on academic misconduct regardless of their location of study; faculty, staff, and students have the responsibility of supporting an environment that encourages academic integrity. Students need to remain aware that instructors have access to and the right to use electronic and other means of detection.

Please note: Whether or not a student intended to commit academic misconduct is not relevant for a finding of guilt. Hurried or careless submission of assignments does not excuse students from responsibility for verifying the academic integrity of their work before submitting it. Students who are in any doubt as to whether an action on their part could be construed as an academic offence should consult with a faculty member or faculty advisor.
