Description

Eurostars [2] supports international innovative projects led by research and development-performing small- and medium-sized enterprises (R&D-performing SMEs). With its bottom-up approach, Eurostars supports the development of rapidly marketable innovative products, processes and services that help improve the daily lives of people around the world.

Eurostars is accepting applications from Canadian citizens and permanent residents with expertise both in an area of technology and in the field of business interested in joining its pool of international experts. Selected experts will make use of the experience they have acquired to provide objective evaluations of proposals submitted through the Eurostars program. They will be paid for the services they provide (approximately $250 CDN per project reviewed).

If you are interested in taking your “know-how” to a global stage, check to see if you meet the criteria [3] and apply to Eurostars [4].
