Description

Led by:

- Dr. Charlotte Yates, Provost and Vice-President (Academic)
- Dr. John Dawson, Professor, Department of Molecular and Cellular Biology
- Dr. Andrew Bailey, Associate Professor, Department of Philosophy

Are you imagining your research leave to be a time to learn a new research technique, visit a research lab in a foreign country, or finish publications? Whatever opportunities you want to explore for career development and growth, getting the most from a research leave requires great planning.

To help imagine the possibilities and gain effective planning tips, please join our faculty to hear about their experiences in how they made the most of their research leaves. Bring your questions for discussion!

The session is hosted by the Office of Research, CBS, COA and CSAHS.
