

OMAFRA Agri-Tech Innovation Cost-Share Program 2021

Sponsor

Ontario Ministry of Agriculture, Food and Rural Affairs

Program

Agri-Tech Innovation Cost Share Program [1]

Description

Recognizing the importance of keeping Ontario's agri-food sector strong through the course of the COVID-19 pandemic, the Agri-Tech Innovation cost-share program will support the modernization of workplaces, by funding projects to implement advanced or innovative technology (such as automation and robotics), that will enhance the protection of workers health and safety against COVID-19, lead to business efficiencies and productivity, and help build the sector's resilience.

Projects will focus on those businesses within the sector that are at the highest risk of potential COVID-19 exposure and transmission.

At this time, funding is available through the Innovators [2] category. This category provides funding for larger scale projects that support innovators through collaborations between Agri-food businesses, commodity organizations and/or agri-food technology providers that want to work collaboratively to pilot or demonstrate technology innovations. These projects will in turn present significant innovation to the sector or to Ontario in mitigating potential COVID-19 exposure and transmission risks among agri-food workers, leading to the sector's increased efficiency and productivity.

Eligibility

Please review Program Category Description - Innovators [2] to see who can apply and eligible project partners collaborating on a project.
