Description

Overview

The Ontario Agri-Food Research Initiative (OAFRI) provides funding for agri-food research and innovation projects in Ontario, which is a key pillar of the Grow Ontario Strategy [2].

The OAFRI program strives to create an application process that adheres to the principles of equity, diversity, inclusion and Indigenization. The goals of the initiative are to:

- fund demand-driven research and innovation activities in the agri-food sector
- support the sector's resiliency and facilitate sustainable growth
- improve knowledge or technology to address business challenges
- expand market opportunities locally and globally

Funding Streams

OAFRI has four funding streams to support research and innovation projects aimed at providing solutions for Ontario's agri-food sector (such as new knowledge, technologies, products or practices).

The four streams are categorized based on technology readiness levels [3] (TRLs). Use the TRL as a reference to determine the appropriate OAFRI stream for your application. The four streams are:

- applied research - Intake is open. The external deadline is January 11, 2024 (see deadlines below)
- pilot and demonstration - Intake is open. The external deadline is January 11, 2024

(see deadlines below)

- commercialization -Intake is open. The external deadline is January 11, 2024 (see deadlines below)
- knowledge translation and transfer (KTT) - Intake is currently closed for the KTT stream. Please refer to upcoming intake dates [4] for more information.

For all streams, your application must align with at least one of the research priorities [5] outlined in the specific stream intake guidelines.

Review funding streams and how to apply [6] for more information on the four streams.
