Update: Technical issue with the Canadian Common CV

Sponsor

Canadian Institutes of Health Research

Description

The Canadian Institutes of Health Research (CIHR) has brought to our attention that the PubMed import function via XML file is not working. As such, they asked that we share the following updated instructions with our research community:

1. Add individual publications to the Journal Articles section of the CCV; and/or
2. Import publications into the CCV by using an XML or BibTex file from other bibliographic databases, such as Scopus, Google Scholar and Web of Science.

CIHR apologizes for any inconvenience this may cause and thanks you for your understanding.
