

Workshop: How to Write for Conversation Canada

Updated Information

The date for the Conversation Canada workshop has been changed to Thursday, April 22 from 10:30 am to 12:00 pm.

Date	Location	Notes
Thursday April 22, 2021 10:30am to 12:00pm	online	This workshop is open to U of G faculty and PhD students. To register, contact Deirdre Healey, manager, news service, at healeyd@uoguelph.ca.

Description

Conversation Canada is a national, daily, online publication that delivers analysis and explanatory journalism from the academic and research community directly to the public. It's a not-for-profit collaboration where professional editors work directly with academics and researchers to publish articles for a wide audience. It is an effective venue for showcasing your research and expertise, as articles often attract national and sometimes international media interest.

U of G became a founding partner of the media network in 2017. Since then, most universities across Canada have become members.

The workshop will feature Conversation Canada editor Scott White, who will discuss effective commentaries and how to pitch and write for the publication.

Conversation Canada accepts commentaries written by faculty and PhD students.

Alert ClassificationsCategory:

Workshops and Events

Disciplines:

Health and Life Sciences

Humanities

Information and Communications Technology

Physical Sciences and Engineering

Social Sciences

Workshop: How to Write for Conversation Canada

Published on Research Alerts (<https://www.uoguelph.ca/research/alerts>)

Source

URL:<https://www.uoguelph.ca/research/alerts/content/workshop-how-write-conversation-canada>