Description

BioCanRx is a new Network of Centres of Excellence with a mandate to accelerate Canada's most promising biologically based cancer treatments (immunotherapies and biotherapies) into clinical trials. BioCanRx funds late-stage research that demands collaboration among teams from across disciplines, across sectors and across Canada. The aim is to develop biotherapies in parallel and in combination to determine the most effective ways they can combat cancer to improve the quality and length of a person's life.

We are now accepting letters of intent for the following four research programs:

- Clinical Trials Program
- Enabling Studies Program
- Catalyst Program
- Clinical, Social and Economic Impact Program

Eligibility

Investigators located at Canadian Institutions eligible to receive peer-reviewed Tri council funding

Funding Availability

BioCanRx has $25 million in seed funding from the federal government's Networks of Centres of Excellence Program, and strong support from industry, the provinces and many national charities.
